

I feel that Wisconsin's rules are reasonable, and that I've benefitted from them by receiving only a reasonable number of calls, instead of the insane number of calls I was receiving before. From what I've read and heard, I think the telemarketers' lobbyists are essentially whining that they have a 'legitimate' product that people would be interested in. I don't believe it for a second. Eliminating a chunk of their list they can call every single day has cut into their profits (though it's reduced my annoyance). As a consumer, a citizen, and a taxpayer, their profits aren't my problem, and they should NOT be the FCC's either. Thank you.
